

Faansie Basson Herding Clinic

Council Bluffs, Iowa

September 15-16, 2018

Faansie Basson developed his sheepherding craft in South Africa, where he won the South Africa National Title and represented South Africa at the World Sheepdog Trial. Faansie has also successfully competed in the United States, winning the 2012 Meeker Sheepdog trial, and he has also finished in the finals of the Soldier Hollow Classic multiple times. He judged the USBCHA National Finals in 2009 and the Canadian Nationals in 2011. He brings a unique style to the art of teaching people the intricacies of herding training.

Our facility offers a 15 acre field, a 240 by 140 arena, a 140 by 120 arena, and a round pen. Dogs will be worked once on Saturday and twice on Sunday. This clinic is limited to twelve handler/dog teams. The cost of this clinic is $400. Auditing is available for $150 for both days. Private lessons are available on Friday and/or Monday for $100 for 45 minutes plus $10 for sheep use. Don't miss this exciting herding opportunity!
